

Beachlife

Interior Design and Architecture at the Seaside

FRAME

Designer—
Sander Bokkinga/bok

Materials—
Plywood, wood, steel

Dimensions—
3 x 25 x 50 cm

Colour—
white, green, yellow

Completed—2007

Website—
www.sanderbokkinga.nl

Photography by Sander Bokkinga

Sander Bokkinga—the man behind bok—knows that building most-encircled castles on the beach can be quite a labour-intensive activity. An adaptation of an existing activity. An shovelseat is Bokkinga's reinterpretation of the garden spade. The energetic holidaymaker can use the shovel to build a mighty fortress before plunging it into the sand, where it becomes a backrest to support the weary architect. Launched at Milan's Salone del Mobile in 2007, the shovel-cum-chair is a prime example of 'function follows form'. Also included in Bokkinga's collection of furniture that doubles as tools is the clever bok pitchforkchair.

bok.shovelseat